I love Saint Francis.

I have always had a love for him. I feel like there are certain common things in our background and that he understands me when I talk to him in prayer.

This is the great thing about saints. There are tons of them from all different backgrounds so that chances are, there is one who we can really relate to because they dealt with a lot of things we have dealt with in our own lives. If you haven't found your saint yet you really need to do some reading, I know there is one who has a background just like yours.

Anyway, one thing I love about Saint Francis is how intense he was. I can be a little intense at times. That's just me...you take the good with the bad.

One story I like about St Francis is that when he was on his death bed, after having left everything to follow God, gave up what could have been a very comfortable and wealthy life, and started a religious order that had thousands of followers, while he was on his death bed, he turned to his brother Franciscans who were standing around him and said, "I am ready to die, take me off this bed and throw me on the floor like the retch that I am."

Wow!

No doubt some think he is crazy. But I think he is intense and zealous.

St Francis was overcome by the thing the first and second readings this week are all about, humility.

Maybe you'd say he was a little too overcome...but I love it.

St Francis, of all people, could be tempted to think, 'boy I did a lot of work for God during my life, I can't wait to get the reward in heaven that I have earned.'

But he didn't. Even as he lay on his deathbed, sick and dying, he recognized in himself that he is nothing.

"Consider you calling...not many of you were wise by human standards...not many were powerful...not many were of noble birth...rather God chose the foolish of the world to shame the wise and God chose the lowly and despised of the world, those who count for nothing to reduce to nothing those who are something, so that no human being might boast before God." Second reading...2 Corinthians...

Even the greatest of the great are only great because God has made him (or her) that way.

It can be tempting to forget this sometimes. And when we forget this, then we become too attached to the outcome of things and become too controlling. There is freedom in humility.

Francis had humility. He had great freedom and ultimately joy.

To be great and do amazing things for God, to allow God to work powerfully through us, and then to always and continually recognize that God has done it, and that we in and of ourselves are a "retch" and deserve "the floor" is humility. And it gives us great freedom and ultimately joy.

It is only because God is so gracious and kind to us, that instead of giving us what we deserve, He seeks to give us what is beyond what we could even think to imagine for ourselves or even think to ask for, Heaven.
